

-----
Title: The Necrodex

Author: Dharzhal T'Ar
-----

On Oggaroth.....

-Our Lord is an
eternal force,
immortal, and
powerful. He it is
who opposed the will
of the gods of Light,
when, in their
deluded ignorance,
chose to make all
things harmonious
and compatible. He knew that the end
would be swift.. that without struggle and
destruction there can be no progress, no
growth, no strength.
Hence he defied
his peers and
created lesser beings
which would, by
natural impulses,
seek the destruction
of those things the
gods of Light
cherished and
established.

On Sacrifices....

Oggaroth demands the head and heart of
goodly mortals be placed on the
pentagram in his
shrines and temples, as proof of our devotions to him. The same items from evil
mortals such as
brigands and robbers
are acceptable for a
time, but will not
appease him for long.
For it lies in the destruction of good
that our twin aims of

world domination and
ultimate power over
the minds of men can achieve fruition until he comes in power.

For the prophecy is clear: when evil is at its zenith, when the land of Sosaria reels
from the sublime
drunkenness of its own mendacity and
tyranny, will the Destroyer come! He will outwardly seem
as a man, but will
contain the essence of glorious Oggaroth. He will be invincible.. not that his flesh may not be subdued, but no
being on this plane
may destroy him. He will generate the
seeds of annihilation,
that which some call Holy Oblivion, which shall usher all that is established here into the blackest void of mother night. The faithful will be
reborn, regenerated,
as immortals,
demigods, who will
rule his new creation
with him, forever. Of his dominion, there
will be no end.

Beware his name, for
when infidels see it,
it will signify their
impending doom.

He is Destroyer.

Hail Oggaroth, god of Destruction!

Thy faithful
subjects await thy
coming patiently and
obediently!